Gliroy next week.

The Architectural League sent a communication that they had selected a list of architects to assist the Commission in the examination of the plans. The League will be asked to submit the list at the next meeting.

The Comptroler said he had received a message from an architect who had forwarded plans that were destroyed in a railroad accident. The architect wanted time to submit duplicates. The Commission refused the architect's request, and then adapted a resolution declaring the competition closed.

County Clerk Purroy at first said he would not vote on the resolution. Subsequently he changed his mind and voted aye. He said be had views to submit that he considered of interest to the people, but he would hold his speech until the Mayor comes back. Then he might move to reconsider the resolution.

Mr. Purroy favors the tearing down of the Tweed Court-House, and that would necessitate new plans. The specifications for the plans submitted to-day called for a building with wings extending on each side of the Court-House.

Finally Policemen Lawless and Iteid responded to Huise's cries and Sands was taken to the station house.

It is said the only candidate against him will be B. K. Aurephy, of this city, who represents the anti-Tammany clement among the liquor-dealers. Murphy will have the support of the Brooklyn delegation.

Some of Murphy's friends refused to be bound by the action of the delegation, and they are called botters by the Tekuisky faction. Among the so-called botters are ex-Assemblyman John Martin, who is one of Police Justice Voornis's fleutenants; Cornelius Roach, Peter McGino, ex-Aiderman William Claucy, who failed to get a renomination from Tammany Hall last Fall, and J.
